by steam boat - - Geo. Harland & - we were detained to Dan Lurfit's at Falmouth - good meeting there in the aftn - & another with friends at his house in the evening - 4th day with Newell Horne to Sandwich a fine ride of 17 miles - to Stephen Holway's. good meeting there & again at 5 o'cl. with the aftn. - visit to Mary Wing, a feeling elder who told me I had "found them out" - to Rebecca Wing's in the evening - saw the house where dear HCB was so nearly suffocated with charcoal - 5th day - Yarmouth - to Jesse Kelly's - warm hearted friends - close meeting ministry - good public meeting in the aftn. at Barnstable - town much tested with unitarians. In the evening a pleasant rendezvous of Friends at Paul Wing's. 6th day - 31 miles to Pembroke meeting 4 in the aftn. dining on the way at Saml. Brown's a pleasing time - sweet evening at Moses Rogers's of Marshfield. ~~On~~ Yesterday, an interesting journey to this place - stopped for a few hours at Boston yesterday where we had a magnificent view from the top of the state house. Thus another week's prospect has been through great mercy carefully accomplished, & if any at one has been strewing difficulties in my way (as I have heard hinted but do not much believe) I have been favoured to ~~have~~ "come over" them. I trust my mind is grateful to the bountiful Author of all good & especially for that measure of precious & holy quietness which is my portion this morning - O may the Lord condescend to permit its continuance! aftn - a large meeting in the morning, in which close ministry flowed with power - a public one appointed for the evening.

Fourth day morng.

The public meeting was a good one - 2d. day went to the Nahant - better writing the large & very satisfactory young people's meeting in the evening - I found myself bound to the family visit which I had looked to before hand - & proposed it to the select members yesty morning. It met with unanimous concurrence - & we have made a good beginning. Yesty.
Henry my acceptable companion in the work.
But O! the depth of afflicting conflicts I and what I have experienced since the lastanting - the letters from home not being all that my heart could desire - My suffering of mind has been great - & the enemy has come in upon me "like a a flood". Yet I think the cause is not great or important - O this morning I find help most graciously afforded in quieting my poor mind - in renewing my faith - in binding me to the work - & in re-giving the blessed prospect, of a happy issue out of all my troubles.
