I do not earnestly crave of my Lord & Master that I may be preserved in the integrity of the truth; & more only in London his own country.

Albany 10 mo 1.

A favorable journey has brought us to this place. Yesterday Eve we arrived at Utica comfortably housed at Bagg's hotel. Here we are, after a fine travel thro' the valley of the Mohawk, at the Temperance House my friend Dr. Sprague being absent. I called on his dear children. & felt happy in the house of "the good man", tho' its master was away. I have been tried a good deal during the days with doubts & fears lest I should in any way have unduly turned my back on the Lord's work. But this evening I am at rest, in the renewed humble & simple belief that all is well, as it is. Floating news of meetings here & at Troy have faded away, & we propose only visiting Coeymans on our way.

New York 2d Day 10 mo 7.

It was through some difficulty & much from a persevering travel attack & in faith, that we went forward on the morning of the 2d. by boat to N. Baltimore & thence in a little wagon to Coeymans in weekday meeting which we attended & offd. a public meeting for 5th day morning — Thos Bedell's. Our visit to the company of Friends there & some of their houses was quite interesting — dear were favoured to let this well instructed landing footing — 5th day at dined at Peter Stover's — public meeting at N. Baltimore in the Eve. Solid time a good time. On 6th day down the Hudson, quite agreeably to this City where in W. H's house, after tea, our cup of peace overflowed. Very kind reception at W. M's. In Peace & quietness — with ~~[illegible]~~ calling upon friends in a day. Yesterday was deeply interesting — 2 good meetings — between them, ~~with~~ read Micajah Lester's letter to Richd & Anne Mott to their entire satisfaction — after the afn meeting — a precious time in Wm Wanning's family in the sweet recollection of dear S. W. & after tea at E. Collins's a time of prayer & intimate intercourse, never to be forgotten with Richd Mott & Saml Parsons. Were a most sweet & confirming taste of heavenly things.

JOURNAL OF J. J. GURNEY 1837-1840