but I could not accuse myself of having acted otherwise than prudently. This wounded me through the day, more than enough. At dusk in the evening to Hamis Bluff, did not much refresh me. but some peace was tasted at night. Yesterday we were called forth on a journey to Bapin the other end of the Island — a fine drive. & were entertained first at Friend David Rogers, the American consul, & Governor Sabeckar — who received us courtly, but but ~~on~~ after expressing that he had no objection to our meetings at the Boarding Houses, afterwards confirmed the Judge's order. so that our way is so far hedged up. but some opening seems to arise for our using the Episcopalian church — we shall see — we have & believe done our best, & must now leave it all to the Lord. So also with regard to our future voyage — the way seems at present very obscure. I know of nothing to be done, but quietly to rest assured on the disposal of our blessed Master. O Lord, we reverently beseech thee to guide & bless us!

We enjoyed the delightful scenery at the Government Hill House on our return. This morning we have visited the excellent infant school under the care of Brot. Lockerbie, the episc: clergyman, whom we recall acquaintance made yesterday. He seems much devoted to his work we also visited the Moravian Settt. at Bapin, & the whole to our satisfaction — but they hold slaves.

Seventh day night — The last few days have not been without their trials — as far as regards my own mind — The prevailing suspicions & tribulations have overwhelmed me, & laid hold unfavorably of my simplicity. But on the whole, we have been going on quietly & pretty comfortably. A little door of service was opened for me this morning among the Reposes on North side Isle — Adam Stevenson's, whose excellent school for their religious instruction &c, we were glad to attend. Such efforts are invaluable & are quite on the increase in this island.

5th day 12mo 8th. We have just been holding our little meeting to our comfort — though broken in upon for a time by an alarm call from our friend Dr Griffith — Last First Day was one of much quietness — we have sped along quietly enough since — & have formed several interesting Christian acquaintances — visits to the Ruans — Stedmans — Tarristers — Lucas & the church minister much with us. I have been somewhat discouraged by the old feelings with which I set with some little hoarseness & cough but I am again better — thankfully trust we shall be preserved in health of body & soul
