Spanish town Sixth day 3mo 5. 1840
Hot & languid – just arrived at this place from Kingston – I cannot trace of lightning in any way; being more than a little tempt low before the Lord – Great is the depth of my infirmity. I rose on 2d day morng calm & peaceful in reference to the services of the preceding day. Second day Excursion with Jos & Maria Candler to Papine – Waldman's sugar estate – breakfasted with W Manning Catechist. Trial of the Royal mon – Visit to Hope Estate J. Jordan's – & to the independent village. Except at Manning's table after breakfast, no religious service during the day. The information respg the negroes, in general, satisfactory. Returned to Kingston in time to dine at Geo. Atkinson's; at whose house we met others of the planters – their information favorable. Third & fourth days spent in a very interesting expedition to Hallelujah Coffee Estate in the Port Royal mountns – JC Wright's – where we were entertained & lodged. Every indeed Blackburn Esq – : good accomodation & the scenery delightful – Next morning little meeting after breakfast with many of the black people; & a loud call extended to depart from all iniquity: five rode afterwards to Lucky valley, Sugar & Coffee Estate where we were entertained by Hector McLean Wood. Jordan's – returned by the beautiful falls of the Falls River between steep limestone rocks – to the tavern where our carriage was left – thence to Kingston which place we left this morning with a view to a fortnight's tour, intending to hold meetings here on first day.

I trust the Lord is still condescending to guide – I feel like a mere lump of flesh but a little feeling of fundamental quietness gives me a hope that I shall yet be helped thro my service. If so it will be one of the wonders of unmerited divine love.

Sixth day morng

We had a noble anti-slavery meeting last evening in Phillippo's chapel – a large assembly – much good feeling – some little violence of expression – I had to advert to the practical points of the case & to recommend quietness, & in charity, indulgence – all which was well received; & in the retrospect, this morning, I feel peace. We are favored with very comfortable quarters. After breakfast this morning, we were favoured to draw water to water from a living spring – Present Jos McCandler, Atkins Wm, Capt. Stewart, Wrenshaw American ship
