3mo 30 1840 Seventh day.

On Board the Whitmore. Here I am, one of 27 Passengers - bound for Havana - Jamaica done with - new exercises of soul & body in prospect: The night has closed upon us - & we have been on board 12 hours - Have not yet weighed anchor. Such are the delays & trials of patience on board ship. The air, tonight, is most balmy, & I am favoured with a good measure of tranquillity; hoping, trusting that in his tender mercy the Lord will again bring us to our desired harbour; & even open a door for service there in a way, which I at present cannot understand. Since I last wrote - impotent & unpressing enough have been our days & hours. On first day 22d - good morning & evening meetings at Mandeville - Met in the morning much crowded by the Black people - We left that pleasant place in peace on 2d day morning - travelled by Porus to 4 paths - warmly received by the Barrett & other pious Independents & Baptists - Good meeting in the Chapel in the evening - 3d day - to Old Harbour Bay - large & good meeting in Br. Taylor's B. meeting House - time of flow. 4th day to Spanish town - call on the Bishop - spoke to him about schools. Excellent & full interview with Sir Chas. Metcalfe the Govr. Visit to the House of Assembly - Dined with a large circle of officials at the Governors - with S. C. most kindly received & treated. It was really a bright evening. 5th day - call on Sir Joshua Rowe - chief justice - read pamphlet to Rich. Hill breakfasted with Capt. Ramsay - early dinner with Adv. Lind McDougall - returned to Kingston, in the eve. 6th & 7th days - calls & engagements various - dinner at Daffolo's - eve at Chas Lakes - meet. late & - No sleep for many hours 7th day night - Yesterday a good Sabbath - Meeting at Tinson's chapel in the morning - solemn & appealing - the anxiety poured forth on the subject of the evangelization of Africa. After large, promiscuous forenoon meeting at Wesley House - very satisfactory to my own feelings - quiet hours sweetly spent between them & meetings alone with Ia. McCordler & Saml. Gillman attenders spirit - In the eve a very interesting meeting with the Seamen at Port Royal - but an attentive & even feeling company I believe the truth as it is in Jesus was preached rather closely home - May it be blessed to some poor soul!

ally Letter & the Planters - Sometime the proofs & first proofread. This is a great relief & satisfaction to my mind - Thus ends my work in Jamaica - & I think I leave it without a feather's burden - for which favor, I cannot feel too thankful. The delay of this day has been somewhat trying - it looks as if Phila was unattainable - But the Lord can wonders still perform! I am favoured with good accts of my children to 2mo 14th - the Lord be praised! the Lord be trusted! the Lord be served! I think I have the happiness of believing that my present voyage is undertaken in the divine counsel may it prove so! - I am very sensible how greatly I want to get rid of self.

4mo 4. Seventh day. This is the 5th day of our voyage - It has been a remarkably pleasant one - our large circle harmonious & agreeable - Scripture reading in the morning, satisfactory to our feelings; the circle willingly attentive - Learning Spanish of our friend Don Calvera, versifying sketching &c. - the wind light but fair - weather delightful - A good degree of quietness overspreads my mind; but my spirits are not light - & some unpleasant reflections in my chest renew the remembrance of last winter's sad breach with my own vanity & folly; but sometimes obtain a little measure of access to the Source of all good.

4mo. 9. 1840. 1st Fifth day.

We are still on our voyage - & I am in hopes we may be favored to finish it in a day or two further present as our fresh meat & we are just about exhausted. I have hoped that some hours of doubt - fears of conflict - in times of calm - in the

JOURNAL OF J. J. GURNEY 1837 - 1840