experience to sustain the schools – that this generation must be followed up a few years longer until they are men & women; or most of the good that has been done will be lost." This is all very true & such views deepen the sense of our responsibility. Our Com^e has been wonderfully led & provided for – human agency has been of the simplest kind – organization, method & accountability the frames – but the basis of it all has been the Lords blessing & guidance – it has been his work only – there we leave it, to accept whatever may open at the close of this fiscal year, when our Com^e solidly considers the whole subject.

In conclusion I must briefly refer to the religious convincements which are going on in various parts of the Y. Mg, at no period since the war more satisfactorily than during the past winter. I have had special sittings with these new members in some neighborhoods & have mingled with many others of them socially, & believe they will be a help & comfort to us – especially their children,
