The Standing Committee on the Indian Concern presented the following Report which was satisfactory, and the proceedings of that Committee were approved. The Committee was continued.

in Baltimore Yearly Meeting.

The Standing Committee on the Indian Concern report that since last year they have held themselves continually in readiness to embrace any right opening that might present for being useful, as far as in their power to the highly interesting portion of the human family, but all that they have been called upon to do, has been to render some pecuniary aid from the Indian Fund to the Asylum for Orphan Indian Children on the Cattaraugus Reservation. Letters from Asher and Laura Wright the benevolent individuals who have for many years been laboring for the civilization and enlightenment of the Indians, and who were principally instrumental in the establishment of the Orphan Asylum, have been received by the committee, representing the condition of the Indians on the Cattaraugus Reservation at this time, as one that possesses unusual claims upon our sympathy and beneficence. One of these letters says: "The present season has been one of unparalleled affliction to this people and to the Orphan Asylum, and we have had our own share also in our own household. The number of deaths among the people since the year came in is estimated at over one hundred and fifty. Menstris typhoid fever, and dysentery have taken off the greater number. The small pox has taken off three, and consumption has demanded its full share of victims."
