of life, who have more amply discharged their several duties, to their Maker — to their families and to their fellow creatures at large, from youth to old age, than this our much endeared friend.
And having, as we believe "fought the good fight," she has now finished her course, and we doubt not, has received a crown of righteousness. May this consideration prove an incitement to us, who are yet permitted to remain on the stage of action, so to imitate her example, walking "by the same rule," and minding "the same things," that we also may, in the end, look with humble confidence to the same divine source for an everlasting reward. She departed this life after a short but painful illness, in great resignation
