

Near the house friends met, and resumed the consideration of the state of society. The remaining six Queries with their respective answers were read during the sitting thus occupied. Gracious help was found to be near enabling the exercised in spirit to hand forth the language of counsel and encouragement, and whilst an earnest solicitude was felt that Mothers should be impressed with a deep sense of the great responsibility of their charge in watching over and instructing their children in Christian principles & the peculiar Testimonies of our religious society. Those of the younger classes were affectionately entreated to take the yoke of Christ upon them and be willing to be taught in his school: remembering His declaration:

"He that will be my disciple must take up his cross daily and follow me."

Friends were called to more faithfulness in the attendance of our religious meetings, as we are engaged when thus assembled to wait in silent reverence on Him who remaineth to be the Teacher of His people we shall know an increase of spiritual strength and of that faith which giveth the victory.

1st Summary

All our meetings for worship and discipline have been held, and mostly attended by the greater part of our members tho some remissness is noticed in the attendance of those held on week days.

Unbecoming behaviour not sufficiently guarded against. - The hour neatly observed.

2^d Sum^t

Friends appear to maintain love towards each other becoming our Christian profession, and are concerned to discourage talebearing and detraction. - No differences known amongst us.

3^d Sum^t

Most friends are concerned by example and precept to educate their children - those under their care in plainness of speech deportment and apparel to guard them against reading pernicious books and from the corrupt conversation of the world, also to encourage the frequent ^{leading} of the Holy scriptures
