

Two meetings appointed in our meeting houses where no meeting is now regularly held, though some friends live in their neighborhoods. Much openness was manifested upon the part of Friends and their neighbors, and we were enabled to encourage the members of our Society to more faithfulness. Owing to emigration and other causes, many of our meetings are very small, and the situation of Friends is such, as ought to claim the sympathy and aid of their friends, who are more favorably circumstanced.

We have gratefully to acknowledge the condescending goodness of Israel's Shepherd, in that He has been pleased graciously to be present, enabling us, during the several sittings, to transact the business that has come before us in conversation and love, under the influence of which, we bid each other an affectionate farewell.
