

Friends avoid frequenting taverns and mostly places of dissipation, and are generally careful to observe moderation and temperance.

5th Summary

The necessities of the poor are inspected and relieved. None amongst us requiring assistance in their employments, and no children to educate.

6th Summary

We believe Friends are mostly careful to maintain a faithful testimony against an hireling ministry, except that one report states, that some give attendance on such ministry. Clear of oaths, military services, clandestine trade, prize goods and lotteries.

7th Summary

As far as appears, Friends are generally careful to live within the bounds of their circumstances and to avoid involving themselves in business beyond their ability to manage, they are just in their dealings and mostly punctual in complying with their engagements.

8th Summary

We believe Friends are careful to bear a testimony against slavery; those of the African race under the care of Friends are provided for, and some care taken to instruct them in useful learning; one meeting states that more care in this respect would be desirable.

9th Summary

Care appears to be taken generally, to deal with offenders seasonably and impartially, and to revive to those, who will not be reclaimed the spirit of meekness and love before they are disowned.
