The Queens are well reminded of the Word of the Lord. "Abide in me." What a blessed resting place for the believer is Jesus. In him is found joy in tribulation, and strength in service. He leads us as we continue in his love not to defeat but to victory. We are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a peculiar people, to show forth his praise. Not only does the Lord give a general call to his work, but he grants fresh anointing for every service; the one cannot supply the other. Our worship should be kept on the basis of spiritual order, which is that of real dependance on the Lord Jesus, the Head of the Church, in order that we may know the intellect to be sanctified and the message go home to many hearts & the service blessed. We shall be careful to sit down at the right time and not to interfere with the service of others, that the Church may be built up & fed.

an Elder, or a broken prayer, is often of great service. The preparation of the heart is of the Lord. The message may be given to us in advance of the service or at the time, only let it be the Lord's message. All our experience, all our intellectual attainments, all our knowledge should be held subject to the Lord's will.

We should study the Bible, and acquaint ourselves with human needs that we may be workmen, rightly dividing the word of truth. The acknowledgment of the gift conferred on ministers is not setting them apart as the only ones to speak; others may be called to speak, way should be made for these and our testimony to a free Gospel ministry be maintained with power.

We should be willing to enter into a close relationship with the Lord Jesus, and so humble ourselves before him, that we may be able to glorify him; free from the bondage of self may we follow him closely.

We are not only to give ourselves to the Lord, but to one another in love.

All true service leads to higher service,
