

Mr. A. Chapman

12 May 7

Dear Friend

We submitted thy outline of a plan to our architect & he has given us the last-made "Plan No 1". He has indicated several things, showing a long shed in front of the barn, while there only indicated for an end of the yard - then again he has faced the stable wing to make no provision carriages to - the ground plan should be thus

Now attached is the room savings, however, feed, and night one end - The architect has a practical make room in the rear. Must not a are 35 x 55, much better than 40 x 50.

he architect is a practical farmer of 25 as a large scale - he is familiar with the st. the, tho' his farm is here.

2 acres are entirely different place like he says as a typical adaptation the south, as regards climate, production, various division of work from fire.