At an adjourned meeting of Baltimore Quarterly Meeting of Friends, held in Baltimore 11.6.1896

The Committee appointed at the Quarterly Meeting held in 9mo last made the following report.

To Baltimore Quarterly Meeting.

The Committee appointed to consider the subject of the changes in the time of holding our Quarterly Meeting united in recommending that no change be made in the time of holding the Quarterly Meeting in Baltimore City But that when held elsewhere the times be the same as they were before the change two years ago.

The Committee also recommended our Quarterly Meeting shall hereafter meet first in joint session, for the transaction of such business as should come before both men's and women's meeting after which they may meet separate session on behalf of the Committee lating and arousing within them renewed desires to lay aside every weight and run the remainder of the race with patience. In young ministers she had a tender interest, speaking those words of approval and encouragement so grateful to those stepping out in new paths of service. To of the message given will remain a living memorial to her.

In 1877 she had to part with her beloved husband, and learned the lesson of living on without him by leaning hard upon her blessed Lord. Among her memoranda was found the following entry:
"Second month 8th, 1878—One year ago to-day the Lord willed that my precious husband should be removed from time to eternity! Oh, how vividly every scene rises before me! I do indeed feel that the guide of my youth and the stay of my age is gone. My earthly prop is broken; he who was ever ready to counsel me with all the meekness of wisdom and in my season of spiritual darkness was ever at my side
