

Cross I cling" - To the last, her heart still went out for those she loved, for the Church of Christ and especially for "the little children in this world of sin" - I went over the petitions she put up for these as she was heard asking that the Shepherd would find them and save them and bestow gifts upon them - Another time, after a chapter had been read, she closed her eyes and after a few moments said very slowly, with frequent pauses - "Dear Father please answer thy Church to-day - Let there be a pouring out of thy Gospel - Let some take the words from thy lips and let some one carry the crumbs to others - May the people be under the droppings from thy Sanctuary that they may know how good it is to be near Thee"

Almost her last conscious words were in reply to one who in bidding her good night, said, "The Lord is thy Shepherd, thee shall not want"

Although she had seemed almost unconscious, the words from the Psalm that had been her favorite, during her illness roused her and she responded clearly and sweetly "He is all sufficient for me"

Thus did her last testimony crown her years of childlike trust and willing hearted obedience - The above Memorial was fully approved of and was directed to be forwarded to our next Quarterly Meeting -

And then Concluded.
