

All of our meetings for worship and Discipline have been attended; those ~~are~~ held on First-day mornings, by the greater part of our members. Some remissness is still apparent in the attendance of First-day afternoon meetings, those held in the middle of the week, and meetings for discipline. Unbecoming behaviour mostly avoided, and the hour of meeting nearly observed.

2^d answer. Many Friends are concerned to maintain love toward each other becoming our Christian profession. Tale bearing and detraction are measurably discouraged; but a more watchful care in these respects would be profitable. When differences arise care is extended.

3^d answer.

Some Friends endeavour by example and precept to educate their children and those under their care, in plainness of speech, deportment, and apparel; also to guard them against reading pernicious books, and from the corrupt conversation of the world; but greater faithfulness in the support of these important testimonies is much needed amongst us. The frequent reading of the Holy Scriptures is encouraged by many Friends.

Our testimony against distilled spirits appears to be maintained agreeably to our discipline. Friends avoid frequenting taverns, and places of diversion; and we believe are careful to observe moderation and temperance on most occasions.

5th answer. The necessities of the poor are inspected and relieved as far as we have power among us procuring assistance in their employment, and in Children to educate.

6th answer.

Most Friends maintain a faithful testimony against a trading ministry, clear of oaths, military services, clandestine trade, prize goods and lotteries.

7th answer.

Friends appear to be careful to live within the bounds of their circumstances and to avoid involving themselves in business beyond their ability to manage, just in their dealings and punctual in complying with their engagements.

8th answer. We believe Friends are careful to bear a testimony against Slavery. Those of the African race under special care appear to be suitably provided for, and receive some instruction in useful learning.
