

it is open for Garden Club tours.

I have no preference about where the letters should be put. It is a real pleasure to me to put them into the hands of people who respect them like I did. Miss Rachel did make many references which might be useful to someone to confirm relationships. And I am pleased that the letters are of interest to Dr. Annette Hopkins.

The family graveyard on the Johns Hopkins place was plowed over and the old stones dumped "down the hill" by Mr. Stewart, a former tenant. This I found out when I began to look for such records for DAR. I asked local people about it. Mr. Duckitt said he would enclose it if anyone could identify the place and in his work around the farm he has instructed his men to keep a watch for the stones.

When the weather gets more settled I hope I can see you again.

Sincerely,
Cora Du Laney
