

They prefer being with the Hicksites, altogether while on this mission. Some receive them joyfully - while others are expecting bitter. - At their meeting this morning we hear, that while one of the friends was speaking - George Hutton an aged minister amongst them who has been some what deranged for some time, told her to 'sit down & not disturb the meeting' - another member said 'that is not in accordance with my mind if any one has any thing for us I want to hear it' - Several others united with him - & she continuing to speak several went out - we feel anxious to hear if they will receive their family visits or not. Some will not. - 9th of the mo. Those friends did not return to us - & a Hicksite friend from the country came in last evening for their baggage, said they were at his house, & he intended to take them around in his carriage & expected to have some pleasant chat in the mean time. He appeared glad to have them at his house - they told us ^{not} in their meetings in their families in a number of places, those visited were often much tendered - & they believe many will come to friends - that they feel it their place to endeavor to be as 'wise as serpents & harmless as doves' in this weighty & humiliating engagement. - My paper is nearly filled, & I must close, hoping soon to hear from you - With much love to Cousins John, Har-nah - Cousins Sally & Richard - our dear afflicted cousin Samuel - for whom as a great sufferer we have felt much grief & anxiety - & our relatives generally.
I remain your attached Cousin R. H. H.
